RALEIGH, North Carolina (January 6, 2015) – Core Health Technologies, a leader in healthcare IT services, announced today the opening of a west coast office based in San Diego, California. This new location will allow Core Health Technologies to better serve existing and future clients and better support their nationwide team of consultants.

Core Health Technologies, headquartered in Raleigh, North Carolina, has been providing healthcare IT services to healthcare organizations nationally for over five years. With their unique business model centered on developing discipline specific expertise in focused teams, Core Health Technologies has expanded from their initial offering of healthcare integration services to their current services equipped to support the entire healthcare IT enterprise.

"Our west coast presence extends our heritage of strong, timely, customer-focused solutions by being closer to our west coast consultants and clients," said Charlie Rogers, Core Health Technologies' CEO. "We have consultants and clients throughout the United States and with our continued expansion of services to support the needs of our clients, this move will help us stay as responsive as possible."

For additional information about Core Health Technologies, visit www.corehealthtechnologies.com.

About Core Health Technologies

Core Health Technologies is a Raleigh, NC based Health Information Technology (HIT) Company with specific expertise in healthcare integration (HL7/X12), health information security, and the healthcare IT enterprise. They solve healthcare providers' information technology challenges across the United States by building the right solution to address the needs of their healthcare organization clients.

Core Health Technologies recently published the 2014 HL7 Interface Technology Survey Results (http://corehealthtechnologies.com/2014hl7survey/) and sponsors several discipline specific LinkedIn Groups to include the HL7 Interface Professionals LinkedIn Group (https://www.linkedin.com/groups/HL7-Interface-Professionals-2506814/about), exclusive to healthcare integration professionals, and the Health Information Security LinkedIn Group (https://www.linkedin.com/groups/Healthcare-Information-Security-4123642/about), exclusive to information security professions in the healthcare industry.

Contact:
Core Health Technologies
info@corehealthtechnologies.com
919-809-5285

###